POLITICAL DRIFT.

Bayard on Butler and an Observer on Ohio.

The Delaware Senator Pays His Rit. ter Respects to the Governor of Massachusetts Strong Language About An Aspiring Presidential Candidate The Danger That a Close Observer Says Besets Oblo Republicans.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—A Chicago reporter interviewed Senator Bayard, who spoke as follows concerning Ben. Butler:

"Such men as Ben. Butler have worn the ass skin too long. It has grown to their bodies."

" But Governor Butler-claims he has always been a Democrat et heart, and that now he is only returning to an allegiance which he never really deserted."

"He does, eh?" said Senator Bayard.

"Well, I wish, in those days when our poor Democratic minority in Congress were struggling to ward off the merciless partisan acheroes of the Republicant partisan schemes of the Republican party, General Butter had talked then as he does now. No, sir, Mr. Butler was the bitterest foe, the most virulent enemy, the most uncompromising opponent that the Democratic party had in those reconstruction days. Whatever may be his protestations now, I can never forget the fact that much, sye, most of the labor, the anxiety, the humiliation of the party to which I belong, came from the wicked, base, persistent and malicious efforts of men in Congress like Butler, and you say Mr. Butler professes this and that. Bah! He may do for Massachusetts and a new school of politics without principle, but you must not ask me to fisten patiently at even the mention of his name."

But do you not think he has a chance of re-election?"

Yes, and more than a chance; and I will say further that I hope he will be. I have no sympathy with that pharisalcal class that is opposing him. If the Republican party of Massachusetts can indorse the fraud which put Hayes into office; can indorse Mahone in Virginia—and both Dawes and Hoar were Mahone's most active friends and supporters-if that party can support those wrongs and not blush, then I say give them Butler, and lots of Butler, too. It is a poison as an antidote for poison—the hair of the dog that may cure the bite—but let them have it. I hope Mr. Butler will be re-elected Governor of Massachusetts."

Columbus, Sept. 26.—A prominent pol-itician who has been a close observer of the shifting political winds of Ohio for several years back, expresses himself as follows regarding the Republican chances in the State:

"It is pretty generally agreed among political observers who have traveled much over the State, that the greatest danger the Republicans are confronted with is over-confidence. Both parties commenced campaigning unusually early. There was no formal opening; the campaign opened itself immediately after the Democratic State Convention. At first the Democracy had the best of it, but the tide was quickly turned by the mistakes of Hoadly, the magnificent campaigning of Foraker, and the quarrels between the several factions of the Democratic brethren. For six weeks the flood has been growing stronger and stronger in favor of the Republicans. The question now is whether it has not risen as high as it can, and whether there is not danger of a set-back. The Democratic managers now confidently expect a reaction in their favor.

"Senator Plumb, of Kansas, was in the city. He expressed the opinion that things looked very bright for the Republicans, but that the Democrats are working harder in their country organizations than are their opponents.

" From now on, the Democrats are going to bring up all their reserve forces. It is well known that the Democratic State Executive Committee has all the money it wants. The Eastern Democrats have got thoroughly scared, and are coming to the rescue, and the last week of the campaign will be signalized by an immense inpour-ing of the material of war."

DOOMED MAN'S FURY.

Maniacal Ravings of a Murderer to Be Hauged on Friday.

SAVANNAH, Sept. 26 .- From the present indications the hanging of George Wallace, a colored murderer, en Friday of this week, will be a horribly tragic occur-rence. About 10 o'clock on a recent morning the doomed man's aunt entered his cell and showed him the dispatch, which announced Governor McDaniel's refusal to commute the death sentence. The news was evidently unexpected by the prisoner, and he appeared almost stunned by the announcement. This afternoon Wallace became maniacal in his violent ravings. Springing from his bed like an infuriated tiger, he divested himself of every stitch of clothing and then tore the garments into shreds. Tying the strips together he threw one end over an iron grating, forming the top of the cell and apparently intended becoming his own executioner. Changing his mind, however, he attacked the woodwork of his cell and in a very few minutes succeeded in wrecking everything inside. Fearing that Wallace would dash his brains out, or in some other way make away with himself, five of the most powerful of the attendants about the jail made a rush into the cell to overpower and shackel him. Realizing their object Wallace plexed up a heavy piece of timber which he had torn from the wall and fought with furious desperation, during which all of the turnkeys were more or less seriously injured. Wallace was finally overpowered, however, by sheer force of numbers and carried struggling to a cold water bath, into which he was plunged. The cooling effect was only temporary, however, and his heartrending ravings are so lond that they can be heard a block from the jail despite the thickness of the

DIED FOR LOVE.

A Woman Takes Poison Because Her Lover Was Unkind.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Mary Kind, aged twenty-three years, the young woman who took a dose of poison with snicidal intent, died at the house of her brother-in-law, Heinrich Zimmer, 521 Callowhill street. Miss Kind arrived in this country from Germany about a year ago, and made her home with her sister's husband. She formed the acquaintance of Oswald Reiman, a young man employed by Zimmer as a waiter, and in a few weeks by Zimmer as a waiter, and in a few weeks became devotedly attached to him. Reiman took quite a fancy to the girl, and, it is said, proposed marriage to her. About ten days ago he jokingly remarked that Mary was not the girl for him, and this remark, coming to the young woman's ears, caused her a great deal of unhappiness. She became very ill, and when questioned confessed that she had taken a quantity of 'phosphorus which had been left in the house by a boarder. She said that Reiman had forsaken her and that she had no desire to live longer. A physician; was summoned, and for a time it seemed that she might live. She had a relapse, however, and died after repeating what she had said before. Reiman expressed the greatest surprise at the girl's suicide, and says he fully intended to marry her. An inquest will be held.

FASTEST RECORD.

Further Details About the Alaska's Recent Trip

New York, Sept. 26.—The Guion Line steamship Alaska, which arrived from Liverpool recently, made the fastest Westerly trip from Queenstown to Sandy Hook, surpassing the previous fast record, made by herself in May, by 2 hours and 3 min-utes, her time being 6 days, 21 hours and 40 minutes. She sailed from Queenstown a week sgo Saturday, just after noon, and at noon Monday had logged 355 miles af-ter passing Fastnet. Her twenty-four hours run after that were 393, 386, 414, 430, 436 and 310 miles, the latter from Saturday noon till 5:26 a. m. Monday, when she anchored off Sandy Hook. The run on Friday was made at the rate of eighteen and one-sixth knots per hour, a rate of speed comparable only with that of a locomotive and one or two of the fastest Sound steamers. The Oregon, of the same steamstrip line, on a trial trip on Saturday, made a speed of twenty knots an hour and promises to excel the Alaska. The Alaska has also made the fastest Easterly trip from Sandy Hook to Queenstown, covering the distance in 6 days, 8 hours and 37 minutes, the faster time Easterly being due to the favorable tide of the Gulf stream.

TURNED ADRIFT.

Deceived in Her Employer's House and Sent to the Almshouse. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 26.—Alice Schmidt, a bright German girl of twentyone years, was admitted to the Tenth District Station-house, and an hour later gave birth to a child. The young woman told a pitiful story. She said that her parentlived in Allentown, and that a year ago she obtained a place as a servant in a family living near Marshall and Green streets. While there she was betrayed by a young man in the house and a month ago was discharged after this fact was discovered. She went back to Allentown and her stepmother refused to receive her. Then she made her way to Philadelphia again and went to the house of her aunt, Mrs. Edler, 181 Master street, who, as soon as she became aware of the girl's coulition, sent her to the Tenth District Station-house. Dr. Lyons was summoned to attend the young woman and remained with her until the child was born. As soon as expedient both mother and babe were sent to the Almshouse.

LACK OF WATER.

Bad Effects of the Drought in Pennsylvania.

SHENANDOAH, Pa., Sept. 26.—A severe drought prevails here and is working much injury and inconvenience to private and public consumers of water. The Shenandoah Water Company which usually furnishes the borough of Gilberton with water, has been compelled to cut off their supply in order to meet the necessities of domestic consumers in the town and also to supply the mines with water for steam and other purposes. The latter find it difficult to keep their breakers in opera-tion through the drying up of the sources from which they obtain water for washing coal. For the week past several of them have been working on half time, and unless the Autumn rains fall speedily an entire stoppage will be inevitable in many of the collieries.

A SILK MILL.

Work Begun That Delights the Delaware Valley People. Shroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 26 .- Work has been begun upon a large silk mill at Tobyhanna, Monroe county, on the line of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Railroad. Dodge & Co. will be the proprietors of the new establishment, which will emoloy 100 hands. The mill is to be 42 by 175 feet and equipped with the latest improved machinery. Ten cottages and two large apartment houses will be erected for the use of the employees. This new enterprise will bring $150,000 a year into this section, and is hailed with delight by the people of the Delaware Valley.

A Farmer's Suicide.

SCHENECTADY, Sept. 26.—Edward Lawrence, a farmer living about three miles from this place, swallowed nearly two omees of laudanum and died from the effects. He had been the victim of melancholia for the past three years, and had frequently expressed a determination to take his own life. During the war Lawrence furnished the Government with cartridges, from which he amassed wealth, and at the time of his death was not a SENSIBLE SIOUX.

They Decline to Part With Their Real Estate.

What the Senate Committee Will Report-How the Promise to Sell is Alleged to Have Been Exterted-Bulldozing the Savages to Get Valuable Property Away From Them-How the Indians are Samboozled by Sharps.

WASHINGTON, D. D., Sept. 26.—The Senate Committee appointed last session to visit Montana and Dakota and inquire into the condition of the Indians in those territories will make an unanimous report next winter against the ratification of the agreement made by the Sioux Commission sent out by the Interior Department to obtain a portion of the Sioux Reservation in Dakota. The commissioners reported that they had obtained the consent of three-fourths of the tribe to part with 11,000,000 acres of their lands for a consideration of 25,000 cows and 1,000 bulls. According to the valuation of cattle on the plains this would be at the rate of about eight cents an acre. From the testimony taken at every agency by the Senate Committee, it appears that the Indians claimed almost unanimously that they had been coerced by threats into signing the agreement, that they did not want to sell and do not want to sell an acre of their land. The threats were to the effect that land. The threats were to the effect that their land would be taken anyhow, and the tribes removed to remote localities by the Government. They deny that three-fourth of the tribe signed the agreement At Pine Ridge Agency it was shown to the satisfaction of the Senate Committee that the names of children as young as five years had been obtained by the ously, making promises of land in Nebraska and special privileges. A delega-sion from the Constitutional Convention the chiefs had signed the agreement, the Senate should not hesitate in ratifying it. The committee denied the power of the chiefs to act for the tribe in making transfers of property.

AS TO GREELY'S DEATH.

War Department Officials Decline to Give Any Opinion.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 .- The War Deby Nordenskjold's despatch, giving a report of the death of Greely. The story which he got from the natives is in some respects the same as that given in the log of the Yantic, and published some time since. But it differs in that it states that the party was on its way to Littleton Island. This shows that while it may have been from the same party originally, it was told at another time. This additional statement that the party was en route to Littleton Island, gives a greater color of probability to it than to the fremer stories, one of which was that the commander of the expedition had been killed by his men. The department officials when questioned regarding the report were at first inclined to cast discredit upon it, saying it was probably un-true. They, however, offer no statement as evidence of its probable untruth, and say frankly that they do not want to talk about it or indicate that they believe it, as it will only add to the agony of the friends of members of the party and cannot possi-bly do any good or add any real information to what is already known. The name -Kasleyh-given by the natives as that of the dead officer, is commented upon here as more like the name of one of the under officers, Kislingberry, than that of Greely or Pavy, as had been suggested. It is stated that the wife of Lientenant Greely, who has, with her two children, been with relatives in California, will soon be here. What the object of her visit is is unknown, though probably her anxiety for her husband induces her to visit the point where news of him will first be received and whence his rescuers are to go at the earliest practicable moment.

CALTURED.

The Fate That Overtook an Eloping Couple.

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Frank Van DeBogart, of Valatie, eloped on Thursday with Mrs. Stephen Burr. They came to this place and have just been arrested. Mrs. Burr is aged about forty years and bas a husband and five children, while Van DeBogart is unmarried and aged about thirty-five years. While in jail Mrs. Burr announced her preference for "Squire," as Van DeBogort is familiarly known, and soid she had no desire to return to her; first love. A Deputy Sheriff arrived here and took the recreant couple home. Van DeBogart was sentenced by Justice Harder to the county jail for thirty days and Mrs. Burr was sent to the same institution for fifty-nine days.

A BIG PURCHASE.

The Lehigh Valley Road After Valuable Coal Lands.

SHENANDOAR, Pa., Sept. 26 .- The Lehigh Valley Coal Company is negotiating for the purchase of the large tract of coal lands on the Green Mountain. The tract contains two large basins of the very finest coal, which has already been opened up in several places. The Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Company are working on one of the basins on the East end. The have developed a large body of coal, which is prepared for market at Audenried. If the Lehigh Coal Company succeed in purchasing the tract they will at once commence sinking shafes

MYERS' MASH.

A Married Woman Elopes With a Methodist Minister.

Porrsville, Pa., Sept. 26.—The village of Branchville, near here, is highly excited in a scandal which culminated in the elopement of Rev. W. H. Myers, a Methodist clergyman of that place, with Mrs. Ralph Price, the young wife of a pa-per hanger. The preacher leaves behind him a wife and six children. Mrs. Price left behind her two children at the house of her father, Aaron Moore, in this city, saying that she was going to visit her motherin-law at Minersville and would be absent for a day or two. She gained her husband's consent to this alleged visit. A note which she left behind her has been found, in which she said she loved the preacher best. It has been discovered that the preacher is also missing, and it is now reported that they met at the railway station and went West together. The elope-ment has been kept quiet, but these de-tails escaped when Price publicly announced that he would be no longer responsible for debts contracted by his wife. The families are highly respected and are plunged in grief by the waywardness of the young woman. Myers excited much remark by his attentions to Mrs. Price while her husband was absent in Chicago a few weeks ago. The matter was brought before the Congrega-tional meeting, and the attention of the presiding elder called to the scandal. Mrs. Price's relations also became alarmed at the tendency of affairs, and summoned her husband home from Chicago. At the time of the elopement it was supposed the trouble was hushed up and Myers and his wife were living happily together.

ARRESTED FOR ABDUCTION.

A Father Seeking Satisfaction From Alleged Kidnappers.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 26.—Constable M. R. Enscoe and William Sullivan, who a Rev. S. D. Hinman, acting as agent for the Sioux Commission. The Indians were particularly bitter in their denunciation of Hinman, and Red Cloud told the committee that he had lied outrageously, making promises of land in Newhom he married in Illinois five years sion from the Constitutional Convention in session at Sioux Falls called on the committee at Omaha and argued that, as that the father should take the infant girl. After this arrangement had been made Mr. O'Connell came to this city, his native place, where he has since been living. There was no divorce between him and his wife, but papers of separation were drawn up and filed in the office of the Clerk of the County Court. When Mr. O'Connell returned from his usual daily work a few days ago and learned that his little daughter had been carried off by Constable Enscoe and Mr. Sullivan, acting as agents for the mother, he was portment people are a good deal disturbed terribly enraged, and caused their arrest. Both were released on bonds of $100 each In the City Court a continuance of tw weeks was asked for by the prisonercounsel, which was granted. Mr. ... nell proposes to sek further redr bringing suit against the partie. his damages at a large sum. Air nell started for Illinois with the the evening of the day the abduction and place.

IN DISPAIR.

A Once Rich Man's Desperate Effort to Commit Suicide.

UNION CITY, Pa., Sept. 26.—One Fairman, a stockholder • the defunct National Bank, has just made a determined effort to commit suicide. This week U. S. Marshal A. E. Sisson served a writ upon him to recover a sum equal to the amount of stock he owned in bank to be paid to depositors. Fairman was in comfortable circumstances, having acquired a fortune during a lifetime of hard work. Not a dollar of his thousands can be saved. From affluence he was reduced to poverty in a single day. by his beggared condition he resolved to seek relief in death, and went to a lonely spot in the woods where the water of French Creek runs, deep. Tying a heavy stone to his body he sprang from the bank and disappeared in the stream, Had not a party of young men on their way to a regular bathing place witnessed the act his fate would have remained a mystery forever. Being strong swimmers the young men raised the body and restored sus-pended animation. A close watch upon the bankrupt's actions is kept, it being feared a second endeavor of the same kind may be made. Many other stockholders of the bank will be obliged to work by the day for a living.

MOUNTAIN DESPERADO.

Capture of a Bad Man in he Pennsylvania Hills.

LANCASTER, Pa., Sept. 26 .- Abraham Buzzard, who escaped from the county prison in May, 1882, has been captured near Ephrata. He was induced to go to a brickyard to take part in a game of cards, and while playing the yard was surrounded by a constable and his depu-ties and he was arrested. Buzzard is of the notorious thieves who made their headquarters on the Welsh Mountains. He served several terms for burglary, the last sentence being for fourteen years. He planned the escape by which ten longterm prisoners gained their liberty. Six of them have been recaptured.

A Car Crashes Into a House.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.-About 9 o'clock in the evening as a shifting locomotive was dropping coal cars into Bruner & Co.'s elavated railroad siding at Twentyfirst and Jones streets the brakes became unmanageable. The point where the tracks end is within four feet of a house, and a car crashed into this dwelling, raised the roof and knocked the rear wall entirely out, sending bricks and furniture flying into the yard. Patrick McCann and his wife were eating supper in the lower part of the honse when the accident occurred, and McCarn was severely injured. The woman was also considerably bruised.
